SHOCK ABSORBERS

We offer a complete and up-to-date range to meet all automotive market needs.

We ensure the availability and quality of products from one of the leading suspension manufacturers, both for OE and the aftermarket.

We cover the vast majority of European vehicles in operation.

SHOCK ABSORBER RANGE

Magneti Marelli Parts & Services offers one of the most comprehensive ranges of shock absorbers in the aftermarket.

It includes original and high-quality equivalent products for both cars and light commercial vehicles, covering a wide range of applications and providing solutions for every type of vehicle.

Gas and hydraulic shock absorbers available in the following versions:

Mono tube

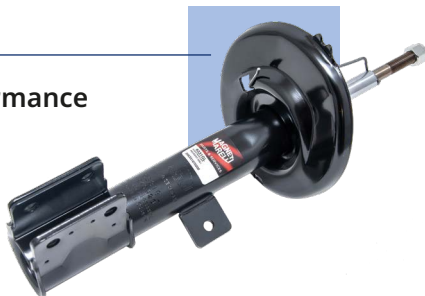

- High damping force
- Fast hydraulic valve response
- Reduced weight

The structure and flexibility allow easy and intuitive installation. Used in a large number of applications, ideal for high-performance and off-road vehicles.

Twin tube

- Excellent suspension performance
- Minimal friction thanks to the presence of nitrogen
- Limited occurrence of cavitation

They represent the most well-known and widespread version of shock absorbers, thanks to their simplicity and versatility. The many available variants can be used with a wide selection of vehicle applications, from city cars to light commercial vehicles.

Structural (McPherson)

- Support of vertical, braking, and acceleration loads
- Contribute to vehicle safety
- Support of vehicle weight

Mainly used in front suspensions of A, B, and C segment cars, as well as for some rear suspensions of SUVs.

Marelli Ride Dynamics develops and produces suspension modules, components, and shock absorbers, meeting the needs and requests of both OE and aftermarket customers in terms of performance, safety, and technological innovation.
